Did It An Overland

Miss Blanche Stuart Scott has just finished a cross country tour from New York to San Francisco, having driven without masculine aid a model No. 38 Overland Car the whole distance over deserts and mountains, her only companion being a lady friend, thus demonstrating to the world that the Overland is the most wonderful combination of mechanism and comfort in the whole coun try: simplest and easiest to operate and adjust. sked Mr. Clark. "I have, but he will not disobey orders."

"Why not then go forward and bribe the engineer?" "I tried bribery at New Haven, but

It would not work." The absence of evasion was the best policy. Mr. Clark not only gave orders to have the train stopped at Charter Oak, but promised some day to see Maud S. He had witnessed the attempt at bribery, and the frank confession of the offense seemed to please

Preparing For a Journey. Jerome K. Jerome recalled with reverence a habit of his methodical uncle, who, before packing for a journey, always "made a list." This was the system which he followed, gathered from his uncle's own lips:

Take a piece of paper and put down on it everything you can possibly require. Then go over it and see that it contains nothing you can possibly do without. Imagine yourself in bed. What have you got on? Very well; put it down. together with a change. You get up. What do you do? Wash yourself. What do you wash yourself with? Soap. Put down soap. Go on till you have finished. Then take your clothes. Begin at your feet. What do you wear on your feet? Boots, shoes, socks. Put them down. Work up till you get to your head. What do you want besides clothes? Put down everything.

This is the plan the old gentleman always pursued. The list made, he would go over it carefully to see that he had forgotten nothing. Then he would go over it again and strike out everything it was possible to dispense with. Then he would lose the list.

Chicago the Danger Line. "Speaking of fishballs," remarked an ordent New England admirer of that form of food who was eating in a Dearborn street restaurant the other day, "I will tell you a sad, sad truth about them. "If you order them in Boston they are practically all fish. Yes, sir-solid, bona fide fish. Move west a bit-to Albany, say. What happens? The amount of fish in each fishball has dwindled. Proceed to Buffalo. A certain self assertiveness begins to be apparent with the fish. On to Cleveland! Fishballs there are half potato, half fish, with the accent on potato. On to Chicago! There potato has the upper hand!" He groaned. "How is it in the far west?"

He leaned forward. than Chicago!" he whispered hoarsely -Chicago Tribune.

Centuries back golf was a pastime of the royal family, though then usually played in Scotland. The Stuart family was very fond of the game, and the first English club was established at Blackheath in 1008 by James I. His eldest son, Henry, frequently played and on one occasion nearly struck by accident his tutor with a club, whereupon be coolly remarked, "Had I done so I had but paid my debts." Charles I. was playing golf when he received the news of the Irish rebellion. James, duke of York, afterward James II., was another ardent player. Golf is frequently mentioned in ancient Scottish records and in the fifteenth century was prohibited because it interfered with the practice of archery. Strutt considered it the most ancient game at ball requiring a bat.-London Standard.
